

Business networks and diversity working groups

Wellington Management has 12 business networks with regional chapters across the globe. Our business networks are all inclusive, peer-led groups that are each sponsored by a partner of the firm. The networks offer their members ways to connect with, and add value to, the firm's mission. For example, our Four Seas network has an investment club so that they can share their unique insights about China's economic trends and cultural values with the firm's investors. Our Women's Network recently hosted an external event focused on the future of health care investing. Attendees learned about Wellington Management's successful history in this field and engaged in broader discussions on macroeconomics, science, and social trends.

Our business networks not only help us recruit, retain and develop talent from a wide range of backgrounds, but also contribute to the investment dialogue so that we collectively can deliver the best for our clients.
